

by Anne Fullem

jewelry photos Amy Jones

www.amyjphoto.com

© Sarah Culver

Karin Karlsson

Inspired by nature, Scandanavian jewelry sculptor Karin Karlsson, specializes in blending traditional jewelry techniques with organic sculptures.

.....

Predominately using sterling silver, Karin loves the free flowing process of making jewelry, and she describes her work as, "a contrast between polished, smooth, sleek lines, and rough, uncut, organic textures". Her brand, Kajs Jewlery, is all inspired by what she sees and encounters in nature. It's the little details that she comes across in her everyday life that she wants to capture and make timeless. Most of her pieces are "like miniature sculptures" and she views them more as "pieces of art, more than actual jewelry."

Check out some of her designs on our Spring cover and page 28 of the jewelry article. The full Kajs Collection is available at Niland & Co. in Annapolis, or find her online at www.kajs.myshopify.com.